

The Association for Children of New Jersey

Is pleased to announce a very special addition to our Lunchtime Discussion Series,
On the Issue

Now, more than ever, organizations need to deliver their messages with clarity and impact. Don't miss this exciting opportunity to strengthen your skills.

OUR FEATURED SPEAKER WILL BE:

Wendy Scharfman,

A remarkable communication coach who will help you and your top staff become more effective in getting your message heard.

Wendy is a communication coach who works with top executives, professionals and their teams on being more effective when speaking and communicating. She specializes in message development, presentation skills, interview skills, media training and team building. Her coaching and training help to transform leaders into powerful communicators in order to move their organizations forward.

Wendy's unique background as an educator and actress contribute to her skill as a communication coach. Her 25-year acting career includes a wide range of New York and regional theater roles, film and TV, audio books, voiceovers and documentary narration. She teaches communication skills and advanced acting technique at the Walnut Street Theater in Philadelphia.

This luncheon will focus on the necessity of effective communication in these challenging times and offer practical tools and techniques to refine your message, enhance and streamline content, truly connect with your audience and gain confidence in your speaking ability.
